To whom it may concern:

It is with great pleasure and careful consideration that I recommend Secretariat International, Don Harvey and Ryan Hughes, in particular, in the fields of construction management and scheduling. I have known Ryan Hughes, Director of Secretariat International for over 9 years. I have worked with Ryan on countless development projects in my current role with Ben Carter Enterprises and previously with Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP. In each instance, he has handled the challenges with speed, professionalism and an eye towards the need of each client. He has a thorough understanding of each project as a whole, both from a construction and business prospective and through a welcomed use of organizational and interpersonal skills; he meets and exceeds everyone's objectives. I was more than happy to recommend Ryan for his current position with Secretariat International.

I have come to know Secretariat International and its owner, Don Harvey, over the past few years and find them to be a leader in construction consulting. Mr. Harvey has an international reputation as a leading authority in the field of construction scheduling and delay issues. He has parlayed that knowledge and experience into a consulting platform that provides clients with excellent service in the area of construction management.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions regarding Secretariat International, Mr. Harvey or Mr. Hughes.

Sincerely,

Enrique R. Anderson
